Strong, Impact-Resistant Construction

The MANO C.OR-16 is built using high-quality, impact-resistant polypropylene plastic, offering excellent strength while remaining lightweight. The durable body structure is designed to withstand heavy use and protect your tools from dust, moisture, and accidental drops. Unlike cheap toolboxes that crack under pressure, MANO's superior material quality guarantees long-term reliability for both professional and home use.

The box features sturdy metal latches that keep the lid tightly secured, ensuring that no tools spill out during transport. These latches are built to last, providing a firm lock even after repeated use. It's a dependable solution for carrying your tools safely between job sites or storing them neatly in your workshop.

Integrated Organizer for Small Accessories

Efficiency is key when you're working — and MANO designed the C.OR-16 Tool Box with that in mind. The lid includes a built-in top organizer with transparent compartments for small items like screws, nuts, bolts, bits, nails, washers, or cable ties.

The transparent lids allow you to see your small parts instantly, eliminating the hassle of searching through cluttered drawers or bags. Each compartment closes tightly, keeping items in place even when the toolbox is carried or tilted. This feature makes it incredibly useful for technicians or hobbyists who rely on having different parts organized and easily accessible.

Spacious Main Storage with Removable Tray

Inside the C.OR-16, you'll find a large main compartment designed to hold a variety of tools — from wrenches, hammers, and screwdrivers to small power tool accessories. The generous depth ensures you can store everything you need for a day's work in one place.

To help organize your tools even further, the toolbox includes a removable inner tray. This tray is perfect for keeping frequently used tools handy or separating delicate instruments from heavier ones below. It can also be lifted out and carried separately, adding to the box's flexibility and ease of use.

Portable, Ergonomic & Convenient

Weighing less than 1 kg, the C.OR-16 offers the ideal balance between portability and storage capacity. Its soft-grip handle provides a comfortable and secure grip, even when the box is fully loaded. The handle folds down neatly into the lid when not in use, making the toolbox more compact and easy to store in tight spaces like car trunks or under workbenches.
